Green Washrooms

Does it really make sense to cut down trees to make toilet paper?

Green Washrooms is our common sense approach to washroom products and is based around thinking through a product's full life cycle. Once a product is used and goes down the drain it is up to nature to dispose of it. Thoughtful Consumption is about stretching out the life cycle of the fibre and ensuring it is recycled at least once, preferably 3-4 times, before we use it in washroom products. With our Green Washrooms program, you can rest easy knowing that the products are produced from sustainable resources and they are not harmful to the environment once they enter the waste systems.

Our Green Washroom Program incorporates 100% PCW recycled paper products with a Green Certified hand hygiene program.

Technology to $ave you, and your Environment

30% Savings	45% Less waste
100% PCW Pulp post-consumer waste. No trees used!	Giving back 50c from every carton towards ESG foundation

(*Values are indicative averages based on ESG site trial data across AUS/NZ schools)

Opticore Revolution Controlled-use Dispensing System
The Opticore Revolution 3-roll tissue dispenser is a high-capacity system, designed for larger volume washrooms to help minimise overuse of toilet tissue. The corresponding Opticore toilet tissue uses split core technology that only allows the second roll to be accessed once the roll in use has completely finished. When one roll of tissue is used, simply turn the dial to advance to the next roll.
It's that simple!

Hand Hygiene - Sanitiser

PURELL Hand Sanitiser was first invented in 1988 by GOJO to meet the needs of healthcare providers and restaurants operators looking for ways to reduce the spread of germs. Healthcare workers needed to kill germs on their hands when they couldn't get to soap and water whilst restaurant operators needed extra protection to reduce the risk of food contamination.

Today, PURELL Hand Sanitiser remains one of the most recognised brands in the world. It defines the hand sanitiser category and is the brand most preferred by professionals and consumers worldwide.

Microfibre Systems

The complete microfibre solution that delivers superior hygiene results and improves productivity. Each fibre is split to 1/100 of a human hair to create an optimal number of surfaces to trap dust, dirt and bacteria. Unlike traditional mops and cloths, TASKI Jonmaster System ultra microfibrils collect and trap the dirt to leave surfaces cleaner and more hygienic. TASKI Jonmaster System ultra microfibrils clean in two different ways, dry or damp/wet. When used dry, dust and dirt are attracted by static electricity. With damp/wet use, dirt and bacteria are picked up by capillary action.

Wet Vacuum Cleaners

KARCHER

*TACT CLASS - Built in Filter Cleaning System

Wet & Dry vacuums fitted with the Tact system feature uninterrupted airflow providing consistent high suction power, even for large amounts of fine dust. The filter cleans itself with powerful blasts of air directed through the top of the filter, blowing dirt and dust back down into the tank. Tact vacuums meet the highest standards for dust control on construction sites and in workshops. TACT = Push Botton, TACT<sup>2</sup> = Automatic.

Biodegradable* plastic

Increasingly, more of our plastic products are becoming biodegradable* through using our industry leading Eco-Smart® technology. This innovation allows traditional plastics to biodegrade through a series of chemical and biological processes, when introduced to a microbe-rich environment such as a modern landfill. This process unlike other “bio-plastics” does not compromise recyclability.

How it works

Our Eco-Smart® additive allows plastic to biodegrade* through a series of chemical and biological processes, when introduced to a microbe-rich environment such as a biologically active modern landfill.

Eco-Smart® accelerates the biodegradation of treated plastics by attracting microbes – microscopic organisms vital to the earth's ecosystem.

These microbes colonise on the surface of the plastic where they secrete acids that break down the polymer chain, allowing them to utilise the carbon backbone of the chain as an energy source.

Frequently asked questions

Are products made with Eco-Smart® certified recyclable?

Currently there are no recognised standard certifications for recyclability. A number of independent laboratories have been provided with samples of plastic made with Eco-Smart®. The tests indicated that Eco-Smart® does not affect the recyclability of plastics.

What prevents plastics made with Eco-Smart® from degrading in inventory or on the shelf?

Eco-Smart® treated products must be disposed of or kept in active microbial environments, such as a managed landfill, in order to biodegrade.* Warehouse and retail environments do not contain the microbes needed for biodegradation, so plastics treated with Eco-Smart® have an unlimited shelf life and are completely non-toxic.

What is the manufacturing process for using additives?

Using the additive in the manufacturing process is easy to do and usually does not require any equipment modification. Eco-Smart® is added via a standard commercial gravimetric hopper, just as you would add a colorant into the extruder feed-throat. Eco-Smart® is usually loaded at 0.7–4% by weight.

Does Eco-Smart® contain any heavy metals?

Eco-Smart® does not contain any compounds that would be considered heavy metals, light metals or metal ions. Eco-Smart® is a combination of true organic compounds from oil and other nutrients found in the environment.

Does Eco-Smart® change the physical characteristics of plastic?

There are no noticeable changes to the physical characteristics of plastic such as tensile strength, glass temperature, melting temperature, transition rates, etc.

Does Eco-Smart® affect the plastic's performance at elevated temperatures?

No. Tensile strength and physical properties are maintained even in elevated temperatures. In temperatures exceeding the normal operating range for a specific resin, Eco-Smart® plastics would experience the same change in properties as the standard untreated plastic.

Ongoing Eco-Smart® Testing

The progress charts below show how Eco-Smart® products biodegrade over time.

These tests are ongoing and the progress results will be updated as more data becomes available.

Eco-Smart polypropylene cups have been shown to biodegrade 30.2% after 498 days; Eco-Smart polystyrene lids, plates, bowls & cutlery have been shown to biodegrade 24% after 216 days; Eco-Smart P.E.T containers have been shown to biodegrade 27.4% after 498 days, under conditions that simulate a wetter biologically active landfill, using the ASTM D5511 standard test. Note that a stated rate of degradation does not mean the product will continue to decompose. Testing continues on all Eco-Smart products to track the rate of biodegradation. All data will be made available on our website: www.castawayfoodpackaging.co.nz

Kitchen Tidy Liners

How do Oxo-Degradable bags work?

A degradable additive is included in the basic polymer resin during the manufacturing process. The additive breaks the molecular chains so that at the end of its predetermined service life the plastic starts degrading in the presence of oxygen by a process of oxidation, which is accelerated by light, heat and stress. Finally bio-degradation is completed by micro-organisms, this stage can accurately be described as bio-degradation. At this point the material is no longer a plastic but has become a material capable of bio-assimilation.

Cafeteria Supplies

1) THE BEAN. The coffee bean is actually the pip from a cherry found on two types of coffee trees, Coffea Robusta and Coffea Arabica. Premium blends of coffee use only 100% Arabica beans, Robusta beans are typically used for instant coffees. Green Beans are sourced from various countries and roasted then blended together to get a specific flavour. A Darker roast will deliver a strong coffee, but if not poured perfectly can cause a bitterness. A Medium roast is much milder and a lot easier to work with but struggles to get the strength kiwis desire. I recommend using a strong dark roast, as you can always make a strong coffee weaker, but you can't make a weak coffee stronger.

2) THE GRIND. In order to extract the coffee you first need to grind the beans. Espresso Machines force water through the grind under pressure extracting the coffee as it passes through. If your grind is too coarse then water passes through too easy and you don't get a full extraction causing watery coffee, too fine and the water can't pass through and you end up burning the coffee. Once a bean has been ground and exposed to air it goes stale and loses a lot of its flavour very quickly, so only grind what you need and never reuse old ground beans.

3) THE TAMP. Tamping is a technique that is often neglected in espresso preparation. The goal is to create a pellet of coffee through which the hot water from the espresso machine will penetrate evenly. It is important to keep your tamp constant as changes will affect your pour speed. Your grind is set accordingly to the pressure at which you tamp, so tamp from your shoulder and not your elbow to create consistent equal pressure. An unlevel tamp will cause uneven extraction creating off notes, as water will run to the lowest point so try to keep your tamp level when tamping the grinds in the group.

4) EXTRACTION. The perfect pour speed is directly related to the grind. Ground coffee is Hydrostatic meaning it absorbs moisture in the air; the slightest change in room temperature can cause the ground beans to shrink or swell, changing the speed of the pour. You constantly need to adjust your grind in order to keep a perfect pour. During the extraction process the pour starts out dark and gets lighter as all the coffee is extracted. The key to a perfect extraction is manually stopping the pour once you see white spots in the crema of the extracted coffee. As the coffee is nearly fully extracted it speeds up and turns a whitish colour. The optimum extraction time is approximately 25-30 seconds for a Double shot, 15 -20 seconds for a Single. DO NOT OVER EXTRACT AS THIS CAUSES REALLY BAD COFFEE.

5) TYPES OF COFFEE. Espresso is the base of which all premium coffee is made. By adding various components i.e., milk and water, you get different flavours or types of coffee. The main ones in NZ are...

ESPRESSO (Short Black); a single shot (30ml) of straight espresso.

DOPPIO (Double Espresso); a double shot (60ml) of straight espresso.

RISTRETTO; means "To Restrict". A double shot of straight espresso restricted to a half pour (30ml)

ESPRESSO AMERICANO (Long Black); a double shot of espresso mixed with hot water (120ml)

MACCHIATO; means to "Mark or Stain". Double shot (60ml) of espresso stained with a tiny bit of steamed milk. Can be made long (120ml add water first) or short (60ml)

FLAT WHITE; a single shot of espresso, served with steamed milk in a small cup (250ml).

LATTE; means "Milk"; a milky coffee. Double shot of espresso served with steamed milk in a large cup (350ml)

CUPPUCCINO; means "Cup of Froth". Single shot espresso, 1/3 steamed milk, 1/3 froth. Served in a small cup (250ml)

MOCHACCINO; a single shot of espresso mixed with chocolate, 1/3 steamed milk, 1/3 froth.

Notice that "MILK", is not a principal of coffee making. Milk is a component to a certain type of coffee. Mastering the milk steaming technique is vital to making those certain types, but 90% of the flavour in that coffee will come from the coffee extraction process.

Gloves Latex / Vinyl / Nitrile

BASTION - Progenics Dispensing System

This dispensing method is an effective infection control solution for use where hygiene is critical. Traditional glove box handling can increase contamination risks, as well as lead to glove wastage and higher operating costs. With the Bastion Progenics System, gloves are packaged in special boxes allowing gloves to be dispensed individually cuff first from the bottom of the box. This reduces the risk of contamination and minimises glove wastage.
